A: If you have a while loop that looks like this: `while loop == true: print("My boss is coming")` And you change it to this: `while loop: print("My boss is coming")` You can then print and do some other stuff. From the documentation: The colon (:) introduces a while clause, which tests whether the specified condition is true. The condition is a conditional expression of the form `while expression: body`. If the condition is true, the body is executed once. While statements can also be used as compound statements; that is, a while clause can be used as the body of a larger statement. The condition is tested first, and if it is false, the body of the larger statement is executed.

New human epidermal growth factor receptor 2-targeted trastuzumab-like antibody in breast cancer: beyond trastuzumab. The HER2-targeted antibody trastuzumab is used in the treatment of breast cancer. However, the identification of a population of patients that show no response to this antibody has led to the development of novel HER2-targeting approaches that include the use of other anti-HER2 antibodies as well as the generation of humanized monoclonal antibodies. Our goal was to analyze the antitumor activity of an anti-HER2 antibody directed to an epitope different from that of trastuzumab, gefitinib, and pertuzumab. This humanized antibody is known as HK2-20, with the acronym HK2 because it is directed to the epitope 20/210 (YMADMFRF) of HER2. HK2-20 was produced and tested for its ability to bind and inhibit HER2 and HER3, and to inhibit cell proliferation in HER2 overexpressing breast cancer cell lines. HK2-20 was tested for its ability to inhibit growth of a panel of breast cancer cell lines, and for its ability to modulate apoptosis. HK2-20 showed high affinity and specificity for HER2. HK2-20 recognized and inhibited EGFR/HER2 heterodimers and EGFR/HER3 heterodimers. HK2-20 inhibited the activation of phosphatidylinositol 3-kinase, and impaired the activation of phospholipase C-gamma. HK2-20 inhibited proliferation
